DAVID DANIEL DINU

Born in 1999, David Daniel Dinu is an oboe player based in Copenhagen and Esbjerg. After finishing his Bachelor's at the National University of Music in Bucharest he enrolled in The Royal Danish Academy of Music for his Master's degree which he completed with the highest grade. Seeking to further his expertise, he enrolled in the advanced post-graduate soloist degree under the tutelage of Professor Max Artved.

David has been the Solo oboe for Esbjerg Ensemble since 2024 and also enjoys playing chamber music alongside his friends in Tesaru Woodwind Quintet, which were semi-finalists in Carl Nielsen International Chamber Music Competition and 3rd prize winners in P2's Chamber Music Competition.

THANKS

Warmest thanks to my dear professor and mentor, Max Artved, who helped guide me during my studies and ultimately played one of the biggest roles in me becoming the musician I am today, as well as to my lovely Esbjerg Ensemble, for their inspiring energy, family spirit and last but not least, for agreeing to be part of this special day.
